It's So Easy

To take cold. It's so common to neglect the cold. That is one reason why there are so many people with "deep-seated," stubborn coughs, and so many more with "lung trouble."

The short, quick way to cure a cough is to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The quicker this remedy is used the quicker the cure. But even when neglect has let disease fasten on the lungs, "Golden Medical Discovery" may be relied on to cure. In ninety-eight cases out of every hundred.

The only motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little extra profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains. You lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

"I am feeling quite well," writes Miss Dorcas A. Lewis, of No. 1129 1/2 St. Washington, D. C. "My cough is very much better, and I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I cannot say too much in praise of the medicine, after reading Doctor Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser I would try his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I commenced taking it in May, 1899. Had not been sleeping well for a long time. Took one teaspoonful of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and slept nearly all night without coughing. So I continued taking it. I am in great sympathy with everybody who suffers with a cough. I had been a sufferer for more than ten years. I tried lots of different medicines and different doctors, but did not feel much better. I coughed until I commenced spitting blood, but now I feel much stronger and am entirely well. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine I have ever taken. My home is in Williamsburg, Virginia."

CATARRH

Nasal Catarrh.

In all its stages there should be cleanliness.

ELY'S CREAM BALM

cleanses, soothes and heals the diseased membrane. It cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.

COLD IN HEAD

CREAM BALM is placed into the nostrils several times over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large size, 50c at drug stores or by mail. Trial size, 10 cents by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren Street, New York.

FOR OVER FIFTY YEARS.

AN OLD AND WELL-TRIED REMEDY.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Is pleasant to the taste. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other kind.

LINCOLN'S PRIVATE CAR

Down in the Union Pacific switchyards at Omaha, Neb., standing out in the open and rapidly going to decay, coupled with a string of abandoned, wrecked and out-of-date cars, is President Lincoln's private car.

The car was built at the United States military car shops in this city in the latter days of the war, and was used by Lincoln on his visits to the Army of the Potomac and to other points during the war. The old car is forty-two feet long and eight and one-half feet wide, and is built of steel plates between the walls. Nothing remains today of the car's original magnificence; the inside is devoid of even a bench; the walls are rain-stained, having long ago lost their last trace of paint and varnish, and there are no longer visible the coats of arms of the various States of the Union which a skillful hand painted upon the panels of the walls. Nobody would ever imagine that rich, crimson, corded silk upholstery, reaching half to the ceiling in parts of the car, once helped to make of it, the windowless bulk of today, a marvel of elegance among earlier railroad equipment.

Originally there was but one entrance to the car, a door in the corner of one end on one side. Entrance to the then separate rooms was had from this passageway. The rear room was larger than the others, and was used by President Lincoln for an office and study, and also as a reception room, in which he received the generals of the army. It is safe to say that in this compartment Mr. Lincoln hastily wrote the notes for his famous speech at the field of Gettysburg. At any rate, the President occupied the coach on his trip to Gettysburg on that occasion.

Among the car's furniture were several reclining chairs, and one particularly long sofa for the special use of the tall Executive. This sofa could be retracted at night into a double bed. It is not definitely known what became of the various articles of furniture with the exception of one old-fashioned chair which may be seen in the private office of Superintendent of Transportation Baughman, of the Union Pacific road, at Omaha.

The old, battered and ill-looking bulk also carried President Lincoln's remains from Washington to Springfield, Ill. It was in this car that the body lay during that memorable journey which lasted from April 21 to May 3, 1865.

In 1896 the government auctioned a great deal of its railway material, built for war needs, and among these things was the famous coach, which became through purchase the property of President Sidney Dillon, of the Union Pacific Railway, who immediately removed it to Omaha. For some time it was used as a directors' car, but its great weight, caused by the armor plate, made it objectionable, and it was withdrawn from the service, standing for years under a shed constructed for its custody.

There was talk in 1898 of inaugurating a movement among the colored population of the United States with a view of securing funds with which to purchase the car, restore it and to provide for it a suitable building in Washington, where it might be preserved. Nothing, however, came of the idea.

CZOLGOZ GIVES A REASON.

When Mr. Collins, State superintendent of prisons, was at Auburn, N. Y., the week before last with the State parole board he had a long talk one night with Czolgoz, President McKinley's murderer. Superintendent Collins spent several hours with the assassin in an endeavor to ascertain if Czolgoz's shooting of the President was the result of a plot laid by a band of anarchists who had chosen Czolgoz as the instrument to execute their designs. Mr. Collins told Czolgoz that he must fully realize that he had to die and said he might be able to avail himself of the opportunity to turn State's evidence, as it were, in case he had acted through a conspiracy of anarchists in killing the President.

"You can't help me," said Czolgoz. "No one can help me."

This was the substance of Czolgoz's replies to Superintendent Collins's repeated efforts to have him unobscure himself. Czolgoz refused to admit any acquaintance with prominent anarchists, and the only time that he apparently showed any interest in his talk with the superintendent was when the latter remarked:

"Emma Goldman says she gave you some money once."

"Did she say that?" said Czolgoz.

"Yes," she says she gave you twenty-five cents."

"Well, she never did," replied Czolgoz.

"Why did you kill the President?" he was asked.

"Well, I got to reading of his going around talking about prosperity. I did not see any of it. I couldn't get a job."

"Did you ever ask the President for work?"

"Yes. I saw him at Canton and asked him for a job, but he told me he could do nothing for me."

"Did you ask anyone else for a job?"

"Yes. I asked several people, but I could not get anything to do."

"Why did you not kill the others who had refused to aid you?"

"I don't know."

Czolgoz related to the superintendent the hard times he had had to get along, remarking that his mother died when he was young and that his father married a second time. He said that his stepmother's treatment of the children was such as to drive them away from home.

It has been stated that Czolgoz had read several books from the prison library. This is not true. He had never perused any of the books he had never attended a public or parish school, nor a school of any denomination. Superintendent Collins asked him if he did not desire to see a clergyman during his last few days on earth, and he replied:

"No; what's the use? It don't mean anything to me. No one can do anything for me or help me in any way."

In the mail received at the prison for Czolgoz is a postal card telling him to bear up, and that his friends will get him out of the prison before the 28th.

It Happened in a Drug Store.

"One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked for a brand of cough medicine that I did not have in stock," says Mr. C. R. Grandin, the popular druggist of Ontario, N. Y. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what cough preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could freely recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that she could take a bottle of the remedy and after giving it a fair trial if she did not find it worth the money to bring back the bottle and I would refund the price paid. In a course of a day or two the lady came back in company with a friend in need of a cough medicine and advised her to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I considered that a very good recommendation for the remedy. The remedy owes its great popularity and extensive sale to a large measure to the personal recommendations of people who have been cured by its use. It is for sale by Richard Gibson.

KINDLY TAKE NOTICE that Ely's Liquid Cream Balm is of great benefit to those suffering from nasal catarrh who cannot breathe freely through the nose, but must breathe through the mouth, and must treat themselves by spraying. Ely's Liquid Cream Balm is for sale by Richard Gibson, from the cream balm that has stood for years at the head of remedies for catarrh. It may be used in any nasal catarrh. The price, including a spraying tube, is 75 cents. Sold by druggists and mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

"I had long suffered from indigestion," writes G. A. LeDell, Cedar City, Mo. "Like others I tried many preparations but never found anything that did me good until I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. One bottle cured me. A friend who had suffered similarly put me on the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. He is gaining flesh and will soon be able to work. Before he used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure indigestion had made him a total wreck. For sale by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons.
